Senate Clears Aid Bill

WASHINGTON AP -- A virtually intact $3,143,000,000 foreign aid appropriation, last of the year's money measures, has cleared the Senate after just one day of debate.

A bipartisan 59-22 vote Thursday night approved the bill after administration forces beat back a barrage of amendments that sought to trim it. Only one reduction was made, and that amounted to only $50 million.

The bill now goes to a conference committee to compromise the few differences between the versions passed by the House and Senate for the 1966 fiscal year, which started July 1.

The Senate bill is just $142 million less than the amount voted by the House two weeks ago and is $217 million beneath the aid ceiling imposed earlier when Congress passed the foreign aid authorization bill.

The day's biggest victory for administration forces, captained by Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R. I., was defeated of efforts to cut and end military aid to India and Pakistan.

Sen. Edward V. Long of Missouri voted for the bill, Sen. Stuart Symington voted against it.

Charge Border Violated

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Pakistani troops violated the India-Pakistan cease-fire in two widely separated places, the Indian defense ministry charged today.

The ministry said in a communique that Pakistani troops crossed into the Indian controlled part of Kashmir in the north sector Thursday, a few hours after the cease-fire went into effect and that in the southern sector, Pakistani rangers attacked an Indian police post.

The attack was repulsed by members of India's armed constabulary at Asutar, about 52 miles northwest of Jaisalmer in the desert-like state, the communique said.

"Pakistani rangers have still to be cleared from a few other places where they made intrusions into our territory," it added. "Necessary steps are being taken."

The defense ministry said uniformed Pakistanis also crossed near Jhangar, about 90 miles north of Jammu, Kashmir's winter capital, and began digging trenches.

The local Indian army commander did not take action and asked the U. N. observers in Kashmir to investigate, the defense ministry said.

Safe Parts Found Near Road

Authorities have turned up few leads on the Joyner Liquor Store safe robbery Tuesday morning in which more than $1,100 in cash was taken besides jewelry and securities.

Parts of the safe were found on a roadside three miles north of Wyatt near Brewer's Lake, according to John Dennis, Scott County Sheriff in Benton.

Robert Radica, 64, of East Prairie, who was staying on the Joe Tom Marshall farm three miles north of Wyatt to help guard the property at night, found a handle and combination from a safe and cement that is built into safes.

Gasoline had been stolen from the Marshall farm. Radica was staying there while Marshall is in California.

His wife and Marshall's father were staying at the house.

Radica said that Tuesday at 3 a.m. a car turned down the quarter-of-a-mile lane, which leads into the front of the Marshall house, which Radica said, the car occupants apparently thought was abandoned.

"That is what woke us all up," Radica said.

"I thought that they were possibly going to pick corn. They turned around and went back down the lane, stopped their car and turned off their lights. Then some hammering started.

"I got in my car and drove down the lane behind the car. I didn't have on my glasses or I could have gotten the license number off the car. When I pulled up a man came from in front of his automobile and to mine and I asked him if he was having any trouble.

"The man told me that he had a girl in the corn field and it wouldn't be but just a few minutes before she returned.

"He told me that I could get around his car and he went over to the left side of the road and directed me around the car.

"I went on out to the pavement on old highway 60 and turned my lights off and waited 15 or 20 minutes thinking that maybe they would come on out.

"They didn't and so I drove back to the house and as I passed his car he said something that I couldn't understand.

"The car left in a few minutes and I went back down there and found a combination off of a safe and some concrete that safes have on the inside of them.

"I called the Mississppi County sheriff's office and Jack Ivey, Mississippi county deputy sheriff came out, and picked up the combination.

"My wife went down there Tuesday afternoon and found a safe-door handle, which the Sikeston police department has.

"I didn't get to get my glasses or I would know what the guy looked like exactly and I could have told what the license plate was."

John Dennis, Scott county sheriff, said in Benton that he thought the safe was part of the one taken from the liquor store.

He said authorities in Scott and Mississippi counties and the Sikeston police department are carrying on an extensive investigation and hope to solve the crime.

ROBERT RADICA of East Prairie points to where he found the combination and handle of a safe, believed to have been taken from the Joyner Liquor Store by burglars.

Should a man be completely free to decide whether to join a labor union--or should unions have compulsory membership powers?

This is an issue that the 89th Congress may have to face squarely. The question takes the form of whether to repeal Section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act--the section of the act which affirms the authority of states to enact Right to Work laws.

Right to Work laws go back to 1944, when the first states enacted constitutional amendments making it public policy that the right of an individual to work at his job should not be conditioned upon either membership, or non-membership in a union or any other organization.

Section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act, passed in 1947, affirmed the authority of states to pass such laws. Subsequently the United States Supreme Court upheld the constitutionality of Section 14(b) and the state laws enacted under its authority.

From the outset national union officials, unwilling to yield compulsory membership privileges, have opposed Right to Work laws. Despite their opposition, 20 states have enacted Right to Work laws, and active movements for Right to Work laws are under way in several other states, among them Pennsylvania, California and New Mexico.

Frustrated in their efforts to stop the Right to Work movement at the state level and through the courts, union officials are now preparing for an effort to strike down all Right to Work laws through repeal of the authorizing legislation--Section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act. It is one of the announced major legislative goals of the AFL-CIO in the next Congress.

In their attacks on Right to Work laws, union officials seek to portray them as "union busting" and predict the most dire consequences to working men and women from their enactment. What is the truth about Right to Work laws?

Despite all the confusion and misunderstanding that has been spread by opponents of Right to Work laws, the truth about these laws is easy to pin down because it is now a matter of record. No longer are the effects of Right to Work laws a matter of speculation. Nor is there any evidence that Right to Work laws destroy unions, lower wages, or take away anything from working men and women. The evidence is all to the contrary--evidence going back over a period of more than 20 years.

The record shows that unions have continued to thrive and grow under Right to Work laws. The average increase in wages has been higher in Right to Work states. New manufacturing jobs have increased at a faster rate where union membership is voluntary as a matter of law.

The evidence, provided by U. S. Department of Labor and U. S. Department of Commerce statistics, is there for anyone who wants to know the facts to see and examine. The record speaks for itself.

How, then, have the opponents of Right to Work been able to get by with unsubstantiated claims of the deleterious effects of voluntary unionism laws. It's the old "big lie" technique practiced successfully in recent years by propagandists who do not feel any need to be circumscribed by facts.

As the battle waxes warmer in months ahead over repeal of 14(b), the public can expect a barrage of pro and con statements on this issue. The people would be well advised to look behind the claims and counterclaims of Right to Work for the factual basis for these statements. The facts are available in the history of the Right to Work states -- in experience with their application over a period of time that goes back for many years. Don't be confused by the propaganda--look for the truth in the lesson of history.

"REVOLUTIONARY"

To be against racial discrimination and racial segregation is to be on the side of the angels. But to remain silent or to stay your writing hand while a chance remains to defeat the Civil Rights Bill is to accept without a murmur the conversion of what has always been the "Land of the Free" into a police state.

Acceptance by the Senate of the so-called "civil rights" measure passed by the House would impose on all Americans -- of all colors and all creeds -- farmers, homeowners, banks and bankers, employers of every sort, labor unions and members as well as hotel, restaurant and theater operators, the alien shackles of dictatorship.

It would mean the end of labor unions as we have known them and the loss to the rank and file of what have come to be regarded in the past 40 years of struggle as "labor's gains." Federal Gauleiters would be empowered in the fair name of "equal employment opportunity" to reject the rights and obligations of closed shop contracts, collective bargaining, seniority and apprenticeship.

If the Civil Rights Act becomes law, the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, which it creates, decides whether or not the work force of any or every employer is in racial "balance" with the population of the area. If, with respect to whites and Negroes, there are too many whites -- Negroes must be hired or whites fired, or both. Seniority is of no concern, either in hiring or firing. If the union cannot supply Negroes with the required skills, they must be hired outside. If they are not available, unskilled Negroes must be hired and trained in the jobs that skilled whites -- perhaps with high seniority -- have been forced to give up. Or, the "imbalance" may be vice versa -- with similar results.

If the employer fails to comply, retribution can be swift and terrible. In the case of 99 per cent of employers having contracts with unions, his contract may be cancelled and his firm blacklisted.

This is but one aspect of the bill that a minority report of the House Judiciary Committee describes as being "in the most literal sense revolutionary, destructive of the very essence of life as it has been lived in this country since the adoption of our Constitution."

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) —Are you tired of walking the same old rut?

Would you like to get away from it all, and start all over again?

Well, Albert Lish may be your hero.

Albert is the London construction laborer who has made a career of disliking steady work.

According to his own description, Albert is something of a barnacle on the British ship of state.

At the age of 32, he accepted an invitation to appear on television and explain why he has avoided regular employment for 15 years.

"I have no conscience at all," he said, "and I'm quite content to live on the taxpayer."

He says he gets $18.34 a week in relief payments when he isn't working, and when the government finds him a job he promptly arranges to get himself fired.

"I don't think I like work of any kind," he remarked.

"When I see men working at some building site, my reaction is -- they're working for their money and I'm not working for mine, and I couldn't care less what people think."

At first thought an old-fashioned moralist might be appalled by Albert's sense of economics. It flies in the face of Aesop's ancient fable about the shiftless grasshopper and the thrifty ant.

According to Aesop, the grasshopper danced the summer away while the industrious ant stored provender. When winter came the shivering grasshopper limped to the ant's door and asked for food.

The virtuous ant replied:

"Man, while you were kicking life away, I was putting it in the refrigerator. But for me—not you. You can starve as far as I am concerned."

Well, that was good enough for Aesop, but his fables are out of date. A third force has intervened. It is called the government.

One of modern government's many functions is to take by decree part of the ant's store to see that the grasshopper doesn't starve. This doesn't do much for the ant, but it does give the government a feeling of social service. It also enables the grasshopper to live so that he can blithely hop away next summer.

There may be a kind of justice in operation here. Perhaps the world needs grasshoppers and governments as well as ants. When you get right down to it, the ant has no real complaint. After all, He can't take it with him, and he might as well be parted from some of it while he is here.

In any case, why do most ants and people really work? Only to get the job done.

"We Are Going to Find a Way to Live and Work With Them!"

THE OTHER GRASS IS NOT ALWAYS GREENER

It's that time of year again when editorial writers and broadcasters will bemoan the fact that men must suffer thru the heat of summer burdened down with more and heavier clothes than the opposite sex is required to wear. When you stop to figure that men cannot go around town with bare arms and shoulders, with a backless suit, with a lot-cut neckline and without socks -- you'll agree they have a point! BUT before you fellows start feeling too sorry for yourselves -- stop to consider the advantages you have over the ladies. You are not required to wear tight, constricting undergarments! You are not forced to carry around a handbag which feels like it weighs 10 pounds -- and, by the end of the day, seems to weigh a ton! -- In the long run -- seem to even up!

"N-no", stammered the hunter, "but I'm just about to try."

BACK TO FIRST PRINCIPLES

Amidst all the talk of future economy of government, it is refreshing to find a concrete act of economy right now that will save taxpayers $75.4 million a year. This accomplishment belongs to the U.S. Post Office, which expects to reduce its subsidy for parcel post by that amount through a 13.1% rate increase that goes into effect April 1.

This represents a substantial step toward Postmaster General John A. Gronouski's announced goal of lopping $100 million from the $650 million annual subsidy for the department in the fiscal year which began July 1. When the rate increase was announced, Mr. Gronouski expressed a gratification in which taxpayers will surely share.

But the public still will be saddled with a parcel post subsidy of more than $68 million annually, even after the new rates take effect. Such is the case even though Congress over the years has emphasized that parcel post should be self-supporting. Congress, in fact, has written this into law, and the reason is simple: parcel post is used preponderantly by commercial shippers, who should be able and willing to pay their own way.

Nevertheless, parcel post income has seldom come close to covering expenses. In fiscal 1962, for example, the income fell almost 20 per cent short of expenses. And in some recent years, the taxpayer - tapping subsidy has risen as high as 25 per cent of cost.

The Postmaster General is to be commended for taking a firm step in the right direction. We hope he will continue. By moving toward elimination of the parcel post subsidy altogether, he will show the way to positive government economy. He will put the Post Office Department finally in tune with the long-time intent of the Congress. And above all, he will be saving $68 million a year for a grateful public.

H. L. Hunt Says

COMMUNISTS AND ANARCHISTS JOIN HANDS

Many disturbing signs point to the likelihood that we are now seeing a great revival, in a new guise, of the once-familiar alliance of communists and anarchists which spread through the whole Western world thirty years ago.

Communists and anarchists have this much in common: Both are violently hostile to the whole way of life and system of public order in a free country. They are provoked to savage hatred by the spectacle of the efficient protection of the life, liberty and property of citizens by the law enforcement agencies of government.

In one way, communists and anarchists differ. The anarchist is simply a destroyer, who thinks only of tearing down the established structure of law. The communist is a destroyer with a purpose, for he intends to erect a new and mighty tyranny on the ruins of the old order.

These points of similarity and difference explain why communists and anarchists are natural allies. Communists can use anarchists to help in their destructive work. Then, when the communists seize power, they can readily use their power to eliminate the anarchists. Precisely this course was followed by Lenin in Russia.

Today we find known communists active in encouraging the new anarchism, which has actually become fashionable in some quarters of pseudo-intellectual life. This new breed of anarchists are the spearhead of many of the violent street and campus demonstrations we have been hearing so much about. The alliance between city and university demonstrators is now an established fact.

This dark partnership is a very real threat to our internal peace and security.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON -- Behind the pastel walls of the Kremlin, a struggle for power is still raging. It is reported to be more sophisticated, less savage than the power plays of the past. Yet upon its outcome may hang the answer to the momentous question of peace or war.

Not even the most reliable intelligence reports can be depended upon to reveal exactly what is going on inside the Kremlin. But from whispers that have leaked out, a picture is taking form. Here are the outlines:

1. Ex-Premier Nikita Khrushchev's disciples in the lower levels of government are being slapped down. They are not being banished to Siberia, as of old, but merely demoted. However, Khrushchev's enemies apparently lack the strength to purge his former followers inside the Kremlin.

2. The anti-American Faction, led by the forbidding Mikhail Suslov, appears to have gained the upper hand. It has succeeded in intensifying the cold war and stepping up defense production. Those who favor peaceful coexistence, however, have managed to keep East-West Channels open. They have also wangled some concessions for the Soviet consumers.

JEKYLL AND HYDE

The rivalry between the Kremlin Factions has given Soviet pronouncements a Jekyll-Hyde cast. Several key government posts also remain vacant because of the inability of either Faction to triumph.

Of course, the Hard-Liners are led by Suslov, who has a deep supicion of all things western. He favors a more rigid domestic discipline and more militant foreign policy. He has never given up the idea of Communist conquest of the world.

He is opposed down the line by pragmatic Premier Aleksei Kosygin, who favors more practical politics. Straddling the Kremlin fence is party chairman Leonid Brezhnev, who reportedly sided with Suslov for more defense spending but went along with Kosygin for continued East-West talks.

The division in the Kremlin may continue indefinitely or may end in another sudden shake-up. Suslov already has brought former Premier Georgi Malenkov back to Moscow as a new pawn in the power struggle.

LBJ'S URGENT MESSAGE

In the middle of the delicate United Nations negotiations over the India-Pakistan crisis, a messenger slipped into the tense, closed - door meeting and handed American Ambassador Arthur Goldberg a note.

It said President Johnson wanted to speak to the Ambassador on the phone. Underlined was the word, "Urgent!"

But Goldberg, about to make a telling point, thrust the note in his pocket and went on with the negotiations. Several minutes later, a second note arrived. Again it was marked, "Urgent!"

This time, Goldberg left the conference and took the President's call. LBJ said he had seen Goldberg earlier on television and thought he had dropped his eyes too frequently.

Patiently, Goldberg explained that he had been obliged to look down to read his notes. He would much rather have the scrip projected on a transparent televison prompter in front of him, he said, as the President does.

But when he had asked for one of these miracle readers, Goldberg reminded Johnson, the President's budget squeezers had said it would cost too much.

SMATHERS NIXES COLLINS

Despite a kidney ailment and talk of retirement, Florida's lean and lithe Sen. George Smathers, the third man in the Senate Democratic leadership, is quietly preparing to run again in 1968.

He has been encouraged by a secret poll which places him far out in front of his nearest rival. At the same time, two possible challengers have taken themselves out of the race.

One is LeRoy Collins, former Florida Governor, whose confirmation to be under Secretary of Commerce was held up until he gave his word that he would not run against Smathers.

The Senator privately asked Senate Chairman Warren Magnuson, D-Wash., to delay the confirmation. After Collins had sweated awhile, Smathers sounded him out about his political plans.

Taking the hint, Collins quickly gave his assurance that he would not challenge Smathers for the Senate. Satisfied, Smathers told Magnuson to go ahead with Collins' confirmation.

The other potential rival, Miami Beach's Mayor Elliott Roosevelt, who has already won a statewide race for Democratic National Committeeman, has promised to support Smathers in 1968.

CONFIDENTIAL LETTER

In a confidential letter to the Senator, Roosevelt wrote: "If your plans are formulated for re-election in 1968, I would like to go on record as one who is anxious to offer his services in any or all of your future campaigns.

"I would be willing to assist in the headquarters operation and would also be available to speak actively on your behalf throughout the entire state."

The latest Florida poll, conducted by the first research corporation for Gov. Haydon Burns, shows Smathers leading all contenders in popularity.

"Senator Smathers is rated as 'Excellent' or 'Good' by 54.7 per cent of all persons in Florida," declares the confidential survey. "Nowhere in the state does his rating fall below 50 per cent.

Those polled were also asked which state official they thought was doing the most for Florida. Smathers was rated highest with 22 per cent, Burns second with 18.7 per cent, and Sen. Spressard Holland third with 7.7 per cent.

"There is little doubt," adds the survey, "that Senator Smathers is considered by most persons in Florida to be the most effective and active Senator from the state. He beat out Senator Holland on this question by more than two to one."

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

New Series of National Strikes Around Corner.

New York:-- Labor's high command always plays it close to its ample vest. The supreme council gathers -- as it has been here -- behind closed doors which have been penetrated only once when a newsman hid in a closet.

Then begins a charade. For a few moments the national labor chiefs go over the mimeographed statements which will be handed to an unenthusiastic band of newsmen waiting outside.

The statements traditionally are plodding, self-pleading, lackluster and unemotional. It is intended they shall be so. It is the only concession the labor leaders make to modern public relations.

It takes skill to be so plebeian in the name of the proletariat. It gives the impression the labor men have lost their zing. Nothing could be less true.

These are tough strategists. Organizing drives are coming. Strikes are here and up ahead. Imaginative campaigns are in the making. The grand plans know no national boundaries.

In the next few months labor will march on the aerospace installations, farflung steel plants, the oil industry, electronic factories and the nation's railroads.

Too many observers overlook the new military as they play a numbers game. They believe age in the high council means mental arthritis in labor's thinking. They write off the American labor movement just as it is shifting into high gear.

This country, for example, faces a coast-to-coast oil refinery and fuel installation strike on Oct. 8. The man who'll lead it is Al Grospiron. He took the presidency of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers. International Union late in August. A few days later he set a national strike deadline.

He wants a five per cent wage increase -- not 3.2 under the President's guidelines, not 4 per cent as set by Walter Reuther and Abe Abel, but five per cent more.

Otherwise, says he, the oil workers will pull their first national stoppage in 13 years. He means it. At 49, he's militant and set to roll.

By the year's end he'll be on the AFL-CIO Executive Council, according to the insiders.

At the same time labor's legions will be moving in on the aerospace industry. Previous warning of this in this column has been ignored.

But when the AFL-CIO Executive Council was called to order at 10 a.m., last Monday, in the Hotel Commodore here (a floor below the critical newspaper strike negotiations), pickets were ranging in front of America's key space installations all the way from Cape Kennedy and the Huntsville saturn test site to Seattle. It was no less tough simply because the strikers were members of the International Assn. of Machinists whose brand new president Roy Siemiller is 61 years old. Siemiller too will soon be on the high council.

They hit Boeing, as Walter Reuther and his second-in-command Leonard Woodcock plan to go after the rest of the aerospace field. Reuther, 58, is not especially out of zing.

His concepts of new contracts, new company expenditures for relocation of workers and financing of communities hit by phasing out of armaments, earthbound and aerial, will gray the heads of young corporate executives.

And almost everybody is overlooking the fury building up on the railroads. If there is no serious threat of a nation-wide stoppage next February and March, some of us insiders will eat the boiler of a museum locomotive right in front of the Smithsonian.

There is no point in further listing of the strike roll. There is plenty of zing -- and it is in the white collar and professional union as well. It is the veteran Reuther and his revitalized Industrial Union Dept. which successfully launched the teachers' revolution. And this new saga of the schoolrooms has just begun.

It is the new breed, such as Howard Coughlin, a blend of erudition and practical trade unionism, now head of the Office and Professional Employes International Union, which is measuring the big banks and brokerage houses for organizing drives. And backing him at all times are the elders of the high council.

What many observers overlook is the fact that labor's high command -- the AFL-CIO Executive Council -- really is a Washington lobby for a coalition of autonomous unions. The elders are strategists. They served their picket line apprenticeship long ago.

Today they are the statesmen who confer publicly, and privately as Reuther did the other Friday -- with the President of the U. S.

And if you don't believe they have zing, just get a briefing on what transpires.

Reports that labor is in its dotage are premature. Their hair may be gray and fuzzy. But not their minds. Not their sense of strategy. They just play it that way.

The record shows that unions have continued to thrive and grow under Right to Work laws. The average increase in wages has been higher in Right to Work states. New manufacturing jobs have increased at a faster rate where union membership is voluntary as a matter of law.

The evidence, provided by U. S. Department of Labor and U. S. Department of Commerce statistics, is there for anyone who wants to know the facts to see and examine. The record speaks for itself.

How, then, have the opponents of Right to Work been able to get by with unsubstantiated claims of the deleterious effects of voluntary unionism laws. It's the old "big lie" technique practiced successfully in recent years by propagandists who do not feel any need to be circumscribed by facts.

As the battle waxes warmer in months ahead over repeal of 14(b), the public can expect a barrage of pro and con statements on this issue. The people would be well advised to look behind the claims and counterclaims of Right to Work for the factual basis for these statements. The facts are available in the history of the Right to Work states -- in experience with their application over a period of time that goes back for many years. Don't be confused by the propaganda--look for the truth in the lesson of history.

"REVOLUTIONARY"

To be against racial discrimination and racial segregation is to be on the side of the angels. But to remain silent or to stay your writing hand while a chance remains to defeat the Civil Rights Bill is to accept without a murmur the conversion of what has always been the "Land of the Free" into a police state.

Acceptance by the Senate of the so-called "civil rights" measure passed by the House would impose on all Americans -- of all colors and all creeds -- farmers, homeowners, banks and bankers, employers of every sort, labor unions and members as well as hotel, restaurant and theater operators, the alien shackles of dictatorship.

It would mean the end of labor unions as we have known them and the loss to the rank and file of what have come to be regarded in the past 40 years of struggle as "labor's gains." Federal Gauleiters would be empowered in the fair name of "equal employment opportunity" to reject the rights and obligations of closed shop contracts, collective bargaining, seniority and apprenticeship.

If the Civil Rights Act becomes law, the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, which it creates, decides whether or not the work force of any or every employer is in racial "balance" with the population of the area. If, with respect to whites and Negroes, there are too many whites -- Negroes must be hired or whites fired, or both. Seniority is of no concern, either in hiring or firing. If the union cannot supply Negroes with the required skills, they must be hired outside. If they are not available, unskilled Negroes must be hired and trained in the jobs that skilled whites -- perhaps with high seniority -- have been forced to give up. Or, the "imbalance" may be vice versa -- with similar results.

If the employer fails to comply, retribution can be swift and terrible. In the case of 99 per cent of employers having contracts with unions, his contract may be cancelled and his firm blacklisted.

This is but one aspect of the bill that a minority report of the House Judiciary Committee describes as being "in the most literal sense revolutionary, destructive of the very essence of life as it has been lived in this country since the adoption of our Constitution."

"We Are Going to Find a Way to Live and Work With Them!"

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) —Are you tired of walking the same old rut?

Would you like to get away from it all, and start all over again?

Well, Albert Lish may be your hero.

Albert is the London construction laborer who has made a career of disliking steady work.

According to his own description, Albert is something of a barnacle on the British ship of state.

At the age of 32, he accepted an invitation to appear on television and explain why he has avoided regular employment for 15 years.

"I have no conscience at all," he said, "and I'm quite content to live on the taxpayer."

He says he gets $18.34 a week in relief payments when he isn't working, and when the government finds him a job he promptly arranges to get himself fired.

"I don't think I like work of any kind," he remarked.

"When I see men working at some building site, my reaction is -- they're working for their money and I'm not working for mine, and I couldn't care less what people think."

At first thought an old-fashioned moralist might be appalled by Albert's sense of economics. It flies in the face of Aesop's ancient fable about the shiftless grasshopper and the thrifty ant.

According to Aesop, the grasshopper danced the summer away while the industrious ant stored provender. When winter came the shivering grasshopper limped to the ant's door and asked for food.

The virtuous ant replied:

"Man, while you were kicking life away, I was putting it in the refrigerator. But for me—not you. You can starve as far as I am concerned."

Well, that was good enough for Aesop, but his fables are out of date. A third force has intervened. It is called the government.

One of modern government's many functions is to take by decree part of the ant's store to see that the grasshopper doesn't starve. This doesn't do much for the ant, but it does give the government a feeling of social service. It also enables the grasshopper to live so that he can blithely hop away next summer.

There may be a kind of justice in operation here. Perhaps the world needs grasshoppers and governments as well as ants. When you get right down to it, the ant has no real complaint. After all, He can't take it with him, and he might as well be parted from some of it while he is here.

In any case, why do mostants and people really work? Only to get the job done.

THE OTHER GRASS IS NOT ALWAYS GREENER

It's that time of year again when editorial writers and broadcasters will bemoan the fact that men must suffer thru the heat of summer burdened down with more and heavier clothes than the opposite sex is required to wear. When you stop to figure that men cannot go around town with bare arms and shoulders, with a backless suit, with a lot-cut neckline and without socks -- you'll agree they have a point! BUT before you fellows start feeling too sorry for yourselves -- stop to consider the advantages you have over the ladies. You are not required to wear tight, constricting undergarments! You are not forced to carry around a handbag which feels like it weighs 10 pounds -- and, by the end of the day, seems to weigh a ton! -- In the long run -- seem to even up!

"N-no", stammered the hunter, "but I'm just about to try."

BACK TO FIRST PRINCIPLES

Amidst all the talk of future economy of government, it is refreshing to find a concrete act of economy right now that will save taxpayers $75.4 million a year. This accomplishment belongs to the U.S. Post Office, which expects to reduce its subsidy for parcel post by that amount through a 13.1% rate increase that goes into effect April 1.

This represents a substantial step toward Postmaster General John A. Gronouski's announced goal of lopping $100 million from the $650 million annual subsidy for the department in the fiscal year which began July 1. When the rate increase was announced, Mr. Gronouski expressed a gratification in which taxpayers will surely share.

But the public still will be saddled with a parcel post subsidy of more than $68 million annually, even after the new rates take effect. Such is the case even though Congress over the years has emphasized that parcel post should be self-supporting. Congress, in fact, has written this into law, and the reason is simple: parcel post is used preponderantly by commercial shippers, who should be able and willing to pay their own way.

Nevertheless, parcel post income has seldom come close to covering expenses. In fiscal 1962, for example, the income fell almost 20 per cent short of expenses. And in some recent years, the taxpayer - tapping subsidy has risen as high as 25 per cent of cost.

The Postmaster General is to be commended for taking a firm step in the right direction. We hope he will continue. By moving toward elimination of the parcel post subsidy altogether, he will show the way to positive government economy. He will put the Post Office Department finally in tune with the long-time intent of the Congress. And above all, he will be saving $68 million a year for a grateful public.

H. L. Hunt Says

COMMUNISTS AND ANARCHISTS JOIN HANDS

Many disturbing signs point to the likelihood that we are now seeing a great revival, in a new guise, of the once-familiar alliance of communists and anarchists which spread through the whole Western world thirty years ago.

Communists and anarchists have this much in common: Both are violently hostile to the whole way of life and system of public order in a free country. They are provoked to savage hatred by the spectacle of the efficient protection of the life, liberty and property of citizens by the law enforcement agencies of government.

In one way, communists and anarchists differ. The anarchist is simply a destroyer, who thinks only of tearing down the established structure of law. The communist is a destroyer with a purpose, for he intends to erect a new and mighty tyranny on the ruins of the old order.

These points of similarity and difference explain why communists and anarchists are natural allies. Communists can use anarchists to help in their destructive work. Then, when the communists seize power, they can readily use their power to eliminate the anarchists. Precisely this course was followed by Lenin in Russia.

Today we find known communists active in encouraging the new anarchism, which has actually become fashionable in some quarters of pseudo-intellectual life. This new breed of anarchists are the spearhead of many of the violent street and campus demonstrations we have been hearing so much about. The alliance between city and university demonstrators is now an established fact.

This dark partnership is a very real threat to our internal peace and security.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON -- Behind the pastel walls of the Kremlin, a struggle for power is still raging. It is reported to be more sophisticated, less savage than the power plays of the past. Yet upon its outcome may hang the answer to the momentous question of peace or war.

Not even the most reliable intelligence reports can be depended upon to reveal exactly what is going on inside the Kremlin. But from whispers that have leaked out, a picture is taking form. Here are the outlines:

1. Ex-Premier Nikita Khrushchev's disciples in the lower levels of government are being slapped down. They are not being banished to Siberia, as of old, but merely demoted. However, Khrushchev's enemies apparently lack the strength to purge his former followers inside the Kremlin.

2. The anti-American Faction, led by the forbidding Mikhail Suslov, appears to have gained the upper hand. It has succeeded in intensifying the cold war and stepping up defense production. Those who favor peaceful coexistence, however, have managed to keep East-West Channels open. They have also wangled some concessions for the Soviet consumers.

JEKYLL AND HYDE

The rivalry between the Kremlin Factions has given Soviet pronouncements a Jekyll-Hyde cast. Several key government posts also remain vacant because of the inability of either Faction to triumph.

Of course, the Hard-Liners are led by Suslov, who has a deep supicion of all things western. He favors a more rigid domestic discipline and more militant foreign policy. He has never given up the idea of Communist conquest of the world.

He is opposed down the line by pragmatic Premier Aleksei Kosygin, who favors more practical politics. Straddling the Kremlin fence is party chairman Leonid Brezhnev, who reportedly sided with Suslov for more defense spending but went along with Kosygin for continued East-West talks.

The division in the Kremlin may continue indefinitely or may end in another sudden shake-up. Suslov already has brought former Premier Georgi Malenkov back to Moscow as a new pawn in the power struggle.

LBJ'S URGENT MESSAGE

In the middle of the delicate United Nations negotiations over the India-Pakistan crisis, a messenger slipped into the tense, closed - door meeting and handed American Ambassador Arthur Goldberg a note. It said President Johnson wanted to speak to the Ambassador on the phone. Underlined was the word, "Urgent!"

But Goldberg, about to make a telling point, thrust the note in his pocket and went on with the negotiations. Several minutes later, a second note arrived. Again it was marked, "Urgent!"

This time, Goldberg left the conference and took the President's call. LBJ said he had seen Goldberg earlier on television and thought he had dropped his eyes too frequently.

Patiently, Goldberg explained that he had been obliged to look down to read his notes. He would much rather have the scrip projected on a transparent televison prompter in front of him, he said, as the President does.

But when he had asked for one of these miracle readers, Goldberg reminded Johnson, the President's budget squeezers had said it would cost too much.

SMATHERS NIXES COLLINS

Despite a kidney ailment and talk of retirement, Florida's lean and lithe Sen. George Smathers, the third man in the Senate Democratic leadership, is quietly preparing to run again in 1968.

He has been encouraged by a secret poll which places him far out in front of his nearest rival. At the same time, two possible challengers have taken themselves out of the race.

One is LeRoy Collins, former Florida Governor, whose confirmation to be under Secretary of Commerce was held up until he gave his word that he would not run against Smathers.

The Senator privately asked Senate Chairman Warren Magnuson, D-Wash., to delay the confirmation. After Collins had sweated awhile, Smathers sounded him out about his political plans.

Taking the hint, Collins quickly gave his assurance that he would not challenge Smathers for the Senate. Satisfied, Smathers told Magnuson to go ahead with Collins' confirmation.

The other potential rival, Miami Beach's Mayor Elliott Roosevelt, who has already won a statewide race for Democratic National Committeeman, has promised to support Smathers in 1968.

CONFIDENTIAL LETTER

In a confidential letter to the Senator, Roosevelt wrote: "If your plans are formulated for re-election in 1968, I would like to go on record as one who is anxious to offer his services in any or all of your future campaigns.

"I would be willing to assist in the headquarters operation and would also be available to speak actively on your behalf throughout the entire state."

The latest Florida poll, conducted by the first research corporation for Gov. Haydon Burns, shows Smathers leading all contenders in popularity.

"Senator Smathers is rated as 'Excellent' or 'Good' by 54.7 per cent of all persons in Florida," declares the confidential survey. "Nowhere in the state does his rating fall below 50 per cent.

Those polled were also asked which state official they thought was doing the most for Florida. Smathers was rated highest with 22 per cent, Burns second with 18.7 per cent, and Sen. Spressard Holland third with 7.7 per cent.

"There is little doubt," adds the survey, "that Senator Smathers is considered by most persons in Florida to be the most effective and active Senator from the state. He beat out Senator Holland on this question by more than two to one."

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

New Series of National Strikes Around Corner.

New York:-- Labor's high command always plays it close to its ample vest. The supreme council gathers -- as it has been here -- behind closed doors which have been penetrated only once when a newsman hid in a closet.

Then begins a charade. For a few moments the national labor chiefs go over the mimeographed statements which will be handed to an unenthusiastic band of newsmen waiting outside.

The statements traditionally are plodding, self-pleading, lackluster and unemotional. It is intended they shall be so. It is the only concession the labor leaders make to modern public relations.

It takes skill to be so plebeian in the name of the proletariat. It gives the impression the labor men have lost their zing. Nothing could be less true.

These are tough strategists. Organizing drives are coming. Strikes are here and up ahead. Imaginative campaigns are in the making. The grand plans know no national boundaries.

In the next few months labor will march on the aerospace installations, far flung steel plants, the oil industry, electronic factories and the nation's railroads.

Too many observers overlook the new military as they play a numbers game. They believe age in the high council means mental arthritis in labor's thinking. They write off the American labor movement just as it is shifting into high gear.

This country, for example, faces a coast-to-coast oil refinery and fuel installation strike on Oct. 8. The man who'll lead it is Al Grospiron. He took the presidency of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers. International Union late in August. A few days later he set a national strike deadline.

He wants a five per cent wage increase -- not 3.2 under the President's guidelines, not 4 per cent as set by Walter Reuther and Abe Abel, but five per cent more.

Otherwise, says he, the oil workers will pull their first national stoppage in 13 years. He means it. At 49, he's militant and set to roll.

By the year's end he'll be on the AFL-CIO Executive Council, according to the insiders.

At the same time labor's legions will be moving in on the aerospace industry. Prevous warning of this in this column has been ignored.

But when the AFL-CIO Executive Council was called to order at 10 a.m., last Monday, in the Hotel Commodore here (a floor below the critical newspaper strike negotiations), pickets were ranging in front of America's key space installations all the way from Cape Kennedy and the Huntsville saturn test site to Seattle. It was no less tough simply because the strikers were members of the International Assn. of Machinists whose brand new president Roy Siemiller is 61 years old. Siemiller too will soon be on the high council.

They hit Boeing, as Walter Reuther and his second-in-command Leonard Woodcock plan to go after the rest of the aerospace field. Reuther, 58, is not especially out of zing.

His concepts of new contracts, new company expenditures for relocation of workers and financing of communities hit by phasing out of armaments, earthbound and aerial, will gray the heads of young corporate executives.

And almost everybody is overlooking the fury building up on the railroads. If there is no serious threat of a nation-wide stoppage next February and March, some of us insiders will eat the boiler of a museum locomotive right in front of the Smithsonian.

There is no point in further listing of the strike roll. There is plenty of zing -- and it is in the white collar and professional union as well. It is the veteran Reuther and his revitalized Industrial Union Dept. which successfully launched the teachers' revolution. And this new saga of the schoolrooms has just begun.

It is the new breed, such as Howard Coughlin, a blend of erudition and practical trade unionism, now head of the Office and Professional Employes International Union, which is measuring the big banks and brokerage houses for organizing drives. And backing him at all times are the elders of the high council.

What many observers overlook is the fact that labor's high command -- the AFL-CIO Executive Council -- really is a Washington lobby for a coalition of autonomous unions. The elders are strategists. They served their picket line apprenticeship long ago.

Today they are the statesmen who confer publicly, and privately as Reuther did the other Friday -- with the President of the U. S.

And if you don't believe they have zing, just get a briefing on what transpires.

Reports that labor is in its dotage are premature. Their hair may be gray and fuzzy. But not their minds. Not their sense of strategy. They just play it that way.

Troop 30 Tours Police Station

Twenty-two Junior Girl Scouts of Troop 30 with Mrs. Gene Booth, leader, gained some valuable information about the local police department and its functions Monday. Chief Bruce, as guide, explained in detail why there is a need for such a department, and how that need may be more effectively met with a courteous friendly attitude on the part of the townspeople.

A tour through the jail, followed by an explanation of the radio as it is used between cars and between station and cars, proved most interesting. Other aids seen and inspected were the copy machine and tear gas gun and shell. Present also was Deputy Sheriff Eddie Michael.

Part of the requirements for three badges; Shining Star, Active Citizen, and Community, were met as the girls learned the necessity for a smooth and efficiently run police department.

Girls making the tour were. Pamela Blackard, Regina Booth, Ann Buckthorpe, Letha Buckthorpe, Donna Bulter, Shelia Gardner, Carol Hildebrand, Susan Howell, Dawn Lewis, Judy Malone and Peggy Merrell.

Ginda Morris, Sandy Noles, Rhonda Russell, Sharon Sadler, Sharissa Standridge, Jackie Tidwell, Stephanie Jewell, Debbie Bridges, Sharon Masters, Susan Brown and Michel Blacker.

The Modern Christian

Do you believe that families have sickness and suffering because of personal sins? And, can God heal a sick person?

This belief was prevalent in the life-time of Christ. "...Rabbi, who sinned, this man or his parents, that he was born blind?" (John 9:2) How often this question is still asked of ministers and doctors. "What is it that we have done that our child should be malformed?" Note well what Jesus answered: "It was not that this man sinned, or his parents, but that the works of God might be made manifest in him." (John 9:3)

Through the medium of a prophet and a symbolic sign, God healed the Syrian general of leprosy. (II Kings 5:14) In the written account of God's dealings with men, this intervention to cure the sick is numerous. Once a king pleaded with God to spare him. God heard his prayer and sent the prophet to reassure him: ".. . behold, I will heal thee." (II Kings 20:5)

The healing of the sick and crippled was one of the sure signs of the coming era of Christ. Christ told the disciples of John the Baptist: ". . . the blind see, the lame walk, the lepers are cleansed, the deaf hear, the dead rise. ." (Matthew 11:5)

Christ healed the sick in great numbers working deep into the night. "That evening, at sundown, they brought to him all who were sick or possessed with demons. And the whole city was gathered together about the door. And he healed many. . ." (Mark 1:32)

By his cures he gave striking signs of the spiritual healing he could effect through his redemption. Christ sent his apostles to do the same work. "And he called the twelve together and gave them power and authority over all demons, and to cure all diseases, and he sent them out to preach the kingdom of God and to heal." (Luke 9:1)

The Gospel of Mark adds a significant point about oil. "And they cast out many demons, and anointed with oil many that were sick and healed them." (Mark 6:13) The power of healing was imparted to his disciples and is present with us today.

"Is anyone among you suffering? Let him pray. Is anyone cheerful? Let him sing praise. Is any among you sick? Let him call for the elders of the church, and let them pray over him, anointing him with oil in the name of the Lord; and the prayer of faith will save the sick man, and the Lord will raise him up; and if he has committed sins, he will be forgiven" (James 5:13)

New Scout Training Program To Begin Oct. 2

The Cotton Boll Girl Scout Council covering the nine county area will soon launch a new and unique training by television project in the channel 12 area.

Beginning October 2 at noon, the first of a series of four half-hour television programs, "Growing Up Today," will be presented on station KFVS, Cape Girardeau.

This series, produced by the national headquarters of Girl Scouts of the U. S. A., focuses on the wide range of stimulating activities offered to Girl Scouts . . .in the arts. . .in the home. . .in the out-of-doors.

This series, the first project of its kind developed and produced by the Girl Scout organization, is designed to train volunteer Girl Scout leaders. It describes what girls are like in the important growing up years from seven through seventeen, exploring the vital role played by the leader in the four age levels of Scouting, and discusses how this role differs with Brownie, Junior, Cadette, and Senior Girl Scouts.

Specially developed training materials to be used in conjunction with the programs have been distributed to the 590 leaders from this area who are participating in this project. These materials outline the preparation each leader can do on her own before viewing the programs, and suggest topics the leaders can explore in depth together in discussion groups following each of the televised presentations.

These discussion groups, an important adjunct to training-by-television, will meet with trainers or discussion leaders at scheduled locations throughout the area following broadcast.

The training-by-television series has two objectives: to train new leaders in order that more girls can benefit from Scouting, and to serve as a refresher course for experienced leaders.

The four "Growing Up Today" programs are of special interest not only to Girl Scouts, their families and friends, and the adult membership of Scouting, but to all members of the community who support youth activities.

Participating in the coordination of this training-by-television project over a wide spread area are four Girl Scout councils: Bear Creek Girl Scout Council of Paducah, Ky.; Shagbark Girl Scout Council, Herrin, Ill., Otahki Girl Scout Council, Cape Girardeau; and our own Cotton Boll Girl Scout Council.

Fill a clean salt shaker with water and let the little girls in your home sprinkle dolly's clothes just like mother sprinkles the family wash.

Do you know the difference between a hospital and a hotel?

(Some health care programs don't seem to.)

They lead you to believe that a stay in a hospital—like a stay in a hotel—will involve room and board charges and little more. Result: they offer a fixed dollar allowance to cover "other services."

The only drawback is . . . those "other services" are frequently more than room and board in a hospital and exceed that inflexible limit. That's why most Blue Cross programs, besides offering room and board benefits, cover many hospital services with no dollar limit for 70 days.

Business And Professional Woman's Club Given Tea

The Sikeston Business and Professional Woman's Club was entertained Wednesday with a tea at the home of Mrs. Earl Jarvis 18 Green Meadows.

This was the club's regular monthly meeting. Hostesses were Mrs. Jarvis, Miss Almaretta Sidwell, Mrs. Edna Shankle, Miss Electa O'Hara Mrs. Carl Elam and Mrs. Bob Isaac.

Mrs. Tony Statler read the Club Collect. Mrs. Watler Powell, president, was in charge of the brief business meeting. She urged the club to be 100 per cent at the District Conference to be held Oct. 10 at the Holiday Inn. Mrs. Marjorie Garansson, vice president of Missouri Federation and Mrs. Flossie Duncan, district director, will be guests at the Conference.

There were three visitors present for the meeting. They were Mrs. Harold Lewis, Mrs. Walter Pitts of Memphis, and Mrs. Kenneth Henry.

Mrs. Mary Wilkison was accepted as a new member of the club.

Miss Callie Burket was chosen chairman of a committee to nominate a person from the club to run for state office. Mrs. Robert Black and Mrs. Tony Statler were appointed to serve with Miss Burket on this committee.

The Club's Cotton Carnival float and stand at the Carnival were discussed during the business session.

Members were reminded to bring a white elephant gift to be used on Bosses Night, Oct. 27.

The Travelers, a group of folk singers, entertained the club. This group is composed of Mike Hopkins, Terry Burke, Steve Matthews and Sue Foster. Miss Foster was unable to be present, however.

The hostesses served refreshments of coffee, tea and cake.

Troop 30 Tours Police Station

Twenty-two Junior Girl Scouts of Troop 30 with Mrs. Gene Booth, leader, gained some valuable information about the local police department and its functions Monday. Chief Bruce, as guide, explained in detail why there is a need for such a department, and how that need may be more effectively met with a courteous friendly attitude on the part of the townspeople.

A tour through the jail, followed by an explanation of the radio as it is used between cars and between station and cars, proved most interesting. Other aids seen and inspected were the copy machine and tear gas gun and shell. Present also was Deputy Sheriff Eddie Michael.

Part of the requirements for three badges; Shining Star, Active Citizen, and Community, were met as the girls learned the necessity for a smooth and efficiently run police department.

Girls making the tour were. Pamela Blackard, Regina Booth, Ann Buckthorpe, Letha Buckthorpe, Donna Bulter, Shelia Gardner, Carol Hildebrand, Susan Howell, Dawn Lewis, Judy Malone and Peggy Merrell.

Ginda Morris, Sandy Noles, Rhonda Russell, Sharon Sadler, Sharissa Standridge, Jackie Tidwell, Stephanie Jewell, Debbie Bridges, Sharon Masters, Susan Brown and Michel Blacker.

Wet a cloth with peroxide, then sprinkle heavily with cream of tartar and a scratchless scouring powder. When powder becomes damp, rub well on rust stains on porcelain sinks. Allow to remain for one-half hour and rinse with clear water. If stains aren't completely gone, repeat.

The Modern Christian

Do you believe that families have sickness and suffering because of personal sins? And, can God heal a sick person?

This belief was prevalent in the life-time of Christ. "...Rabbi, who sinned, this man or his parents, that he was born blind?" (John 9:2) How often this question is still asked of ministers and doctors. "What is it that we have done that our child should be malformed?" Note well what Jesus answered: "It was not that this man sinned, or his parents, but that the works of God might be made manifest in him." (John 9:3)

Through the medium of a prophet and a symbolic sign, God healed the Syrian general of leprosy. (II Kings 5:14) In the written account of God's dealings with men, this intervention to cure the sick is numerous. Once a king pleaded with God to spare him. God heard his prayer and sent the prophet to reassure him: ".. . behold, I will heal thee." (II Kings 20:5)

The healing of the sick and crippled was one of the sure signs of the coming era of Christ. Christ told the disciples of John the Baptist: ". . . the blind see, the lame walk, the lepers are cleansed, the deaf hear, the dead rise. ." (Matthew 11:5)

Christ healed the sick in great numbers working deep into the night. "That evening, at sundown, they brought to him all who were sick or possessed with demons. And the whole city was gathered together about the door. And he healed many. . ." (Mark 1:32)

By his cures he gave striking signs of the spiritual healing he could effect through his redemption. Christ sent his apostles to do the same work. "And he called the twelve together and gave them power and authority over all demons, and to cure all diseases, and he sent them out to preach the kingdom of God and to heal." (Luke 9:1)

The Gospel of Mark adds a significant point about oil. "And they cast out many demons, and anointed with oil many that were sick and healed them." (Mark 6:13) The power of healing was imparted to his disciples and is present with us today.

"Is anyone among you suffering? Let him pray. Is anyone cheerful? Let him sing praise. Is any among you sick? Let him call for the elders of the church, and let them pray over him, anointing him with oil in the name of the Lord; and the prayer of faith will save the sick man, and the Lord will raise him up; and if he has committed sins, he will be forgiven" (James 5:13)

Fisk Boy Has Signed With Kansas City Athletics

Ken Marler, a 20 year old outfielder from Fisk has signed with the Kansas City Athletics and he plans to go to Daytona Beach, Florida, this March for spring training. Ken has played on the Victory League in Wichita where he hit an average of 508. He batted a total of 338 in 63 games and he was selected for the All Star Kansas Team. Ken's team won 2nd in the National Semi-Pro games in which he hit an average of 471 during the tournament. In the final game of the 32 game tourney Marler hit 5 for 5. Only six other baseball players have done this in the past 31 years. Ken led all tournament players in total hits with 16, which included two home runs and six doubles.

Ken was born September 29, 1945, with a birth defect. The fingers of his right hand have only one joint. They were webbed but Shriners Hospital in St. Louis has made operations on them and they are now separated. He went to high school in Fisk and one year at Southern Baptist College in Walnut Ridge, Arkansas. Ken had a C plus average in both high school and college. Marler plans to attend college at Walnut Ridge, where he is now through the fall and winter months, and then play baseball through the spring and summer months.

Ken went to Kansas City following the National Non-Pro Baseball tourney in Wichita in August. He took batting practice with the Kansas City A's and on September 11, they signed him on.

Some of the boys Ken Marler has competed against are Charlie Neal, ex Brooklyn Dodger, Bobby Boyd, ex Baltimore, Jim Penlenton, ex Milwaukee player, Ron Karnal, ex Met player, Bud Bloomfield, ex Red Sox, Tom Borland, ex Red Sox pitcher, Pat Gillick, batting practice pitcher for the Houston Astros, and Jim Melton, ex New York Giant pitcher.

Ken Marler has had a real good year.

The responsibility of the newspapers -- more than ever before in my life -- is to explain what the issues in the world are. And yet at the same time there seems to be a trend for the newspapers to become only commercial enterprises. There are exceptions, of course. But I think some publishers think that it doesn't make much difference what a paper says as long as the balance sheet is all right. Well, it makes a great deal of difference what the paper says; It does to me and I think it should to the American people. Newspapers are [illegible] survive they're going to survive because they are vital factors in the life of our society and in the lives of their readers. ---Mark Ethridge

St. Louis Hawks Beat Detroit

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Land Sakes. The baseball season isn't over yet, but pro basketball is back on the sports pages today.

The St. Louis Hawks beat the Detroit Pistons 113-110 at Springfield, Ill., Thursday night in the first exhibition game for National Basketball Association teams. Zelmo Beaty was high for the Hawks with 21 points, Donny Butcher for Detroit with 15.

The exhibition grind starts in earnest tonight with four games, topped by the meeting at Seattle between the champion Boston Celtics and the Western Division champs, the Los Angeles Lakers.

It seems like only yesterday that the Celtics whipped the Lakers in the championship playoff series last March for their seventh straight NBA title.

Since then both teams have been sold, but as usual the Celtics, led by big Bill Russell, are favored to win the title again.

Russell recently signed for a reported $100,001 so he could say he makes more than the $100,000 Wilt Chamberlain is supposed to get from the Philadelphia 76ers.

Chamberlain will be on view tonight at Roselle, N. J., where the 76ers tangle with the New York Knicks. In tonight's other games, Detroit meets the Baltimore Bullets at Evansville, Ind., and St. Louis takes on the Cincinnati Royals at Maysville, Ky.

The regular NBA season Oct. 16.

Missouri At Oklahoma

By JERRY SCARBROUGH
Associated Press Sports Writer

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP)—The Big Eight conference lead will be the prize Saturday afternoon when Oklahoma State hosts Missouri in the first league football game of the season.

Other league teams open next week or two weeks hence so the winner here will be king for a week at least and the loser will be the sole occupant of the cellar.

Both Missouri and OSU lost their openers last week, but each is rated high among league teams. Missouri is given the best chance of any Big Eight club of dethroning Nebraska, champion the last two years.

Missouri dropped a 7-0 contest to Kentucky last week, but lost four fumbles and had three passes intercepted. Coach Dan Devine's Tigers' most costly miscue was a fumble at the Kentucky one-foot line.

OSU fell 28-14 before Arkansas. The Cowboys fell behind 21-0 at the half, but rebounded strongly in the second half behind quarterback Glenn Baxter and fullback Walt Garrison.

Garrison scored both Cowboy touchdowns. The 200-pounder, who led the Big Eight in rushing last season, picked up 74 yards in 18 carries against Arkansas and coach Phil Cutchin also got good mileage from him as a pass receiver.

Missouri will counter with an offense built around quarterback Gary Lane, the Big Eight's total offense king the last two years.

Lane, bothered by an injury, had an off day against Kentucky, completing 5 of 11 passes for only 15 yards and picking up just three yards on the ground.

Devine has pronounced Lane ready to go against the Cowboys, but he has Gary Kombrink, a fine sophomore, in reserve.

Missouri's top performers against Kentucky were swift halfbacks Charlie Brown and Monroe Phelps, who led the Tigers to 188 yards on the ground.

My friend Paul's love-live came to an abrupt end when his conniving fiancee took the gifts he lavished on her then skipped out on him. Paul shrugged the incident off as a bad investment and lost no sleep over it.

Some months later, though, the shrew throught she would rub some salt in the wound by sending Paul an engraved announcement of her forthcoming marriage to another sucker.

My friend closed the matter with a wedding-day telegram to her consisting of two words and his signature.

It read: "Act surprised."

SEMO Meets Carbondale

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo.--Southeast Missouri State College's cross country team will open its 1965 campaign Saturday in a triangular meet at Carbondale, Ill., with Southern Illinois University and the Salukis Track Club of Carbondale.

With three experienced runners returning, Marvin Rosengarten, head track coach, feels that his team has good potential for another successful season. Last year's team, undefeated in dual meets, finished second to Northeast Missouri State Teachers College in the conference meet.

Top returnees include Clyde Miner, senior from St. Louis, who finished second in the 1964 MIAA conference meet, Larry Schloss, junior from Jackson, Mo. and Merrill Lewis, sophomore from Cape Girardeau. Schloss finished third in the conference meet and Lewis came in eighth.

Other runners returning are sophomores Jim Stoverink, Gordonville, Mo., Len Corso of St. Louis, and Bill Becker of Overland, Mo.

Freshmen runners expected to help out the team are Gary Bond, St. Louis Parkway, Rio Barker, St. Louis Hancock, Bill Wertz, St. Louis Ritenour, and Pete Mannisi of St. Louis. Newcomers to the squad include Weldon Benthall of Cape Girardeau, a senior, and Rich Behering, a soph from St. Louis.

Tulsa Rated Underdog

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ambitious Tulsa has a good chance but must be rated a slight underdog against fifth-ranked Arkansas, winner of 13 straight games. Missouri Valley football teams could sweep their other four non-conference games.

The Tulsa - Arkansas battle leads the Valley list and is one of the nation's top games. Tulsa is the exponent of the pro-type air game behind a huge, mobile line. Arkansas which edged Tulsa 31-22 last year, has quickness, speed, great defense, a powerful ground game and a dangerous passing game.

Tulsa is ambitious for top-10 national ranking and another bowl trip. Arkansas is shooting for the national crown and its sixth bowl trip. The Razorbacks whipped Oklahoma 28-14 at Little Rock. The Tulsa game will be at Fayetteville.

Cincinnati's defending Valley champions, despite a 28-0 opening romp over Dayton, could run into trouble against Houston in a night game in the Astrodome. Houston has yet to score in decisive lickings by Tulsa and Mississippi State, sophomore back Warren McVea has had some trouble getting started and there are rumors coach Bill Yoemans is in trouble. Houston may be ready to explode.

No Wichita head coach has ever started his career with a victory but George Karras should smash that jinx in his team's opener at Montana State of Bozeman. Quarterbacks Lou Confessori and John Eckman are in sharp passing form and fullback Pete Di Donato is primed for a big year.

Louisville plays its home opener, a night game, against Southern Illinois, which beat State College of Iowa 23-16 last week. Louisville was edged 17-13 by Western Michigan, but the Cardinals could squeeze by if passer Benny Russell has a good night. Parsons College, coached by former Wichita head man Chelo Huerta, is the underdog at North Texas, at night.

Kansas City A's Coming In Last

A's Youth Movement
By BOB GREENE
Associated Press Writer

KANSAS CITY (AP) - The Athletics are almost assured of their second consecutive last-place finish in the American League, but owner Charles O. Finley is banking on a youth movement to lift them to greener pastures before long.

The A's finished sixth in 1955, the first year they played in Kansas City. It's been downhill ever since.

General Manager Hank Peters sums up Finley's philosophy: "Basically you've got to develop your own players. Then you only deal for someone to plug a hole where you are weak."

The promotion of young players through the farm system is a far cry from the days when the A's traded for veterans who had seen their best years go by and youngsters who would never make it.

The youth movement is beginning to pay off, too.

Vancouver, the A's Triple-A farm club, just missed winning the Western Division crown in the Pacific Coast League.

At Lewiston, Idaho, Class A, the Kansas City Youngsters won the first half pennant in the Northwest League and finished second in the latter half.

But it was at Burlington, Iowa, another Class A club where the kids really shined.

The Bees won the Midwest League pennant going away, led by a sparkling pitching staff.

George Bosworth finished up the season with a 1.11 ERA, the best on the club. But Richard Bicek had a 1.65, Mike Canfield 1.85, Tony Pierce 1.99, Gordon Reise 1.99, Raul Medrano 2.06 and Don O'Riley 2.22.

Medrano was the old man of the club at 23. Bicke and Pierce are 19, Bosworth, O'Riley and Canfield 20 and Riese 22.

At Lewiston, Blue Moon Odom, Chuck Dobson, Jim Nash, Dick Joyce, Bob Rodriguez and Don Yingling gave the club outstanding pitching and a young look. Nash led the league in strikeouts, while posting a 14-5 record.

Rodriguez and Yingling split 22 wins between them, Joyce 13-6 was good enough to be elevated to the parent club and Odom, 20, is considered as having one of the top arms in baseball. He had a 11-14 record at Lewiston.

The Lewiston club also featured Arlie Burge, who was the top batter in the minors this year with a .360 mark.

And baseball's first draft this season produced Rick Monday, Randy Schwartz and Sal Bando for Finley and company.

Even the parent A's have the young look.

Jim Catfish Hunter, 19, is one of three members of the staff with a winning record, 7-6.

Fred Talbot, the team's winningest pitcher 10-11 is 24; the same age as second basemen Dick Green and outfielder Tom Reynolds. Shortstop Bert Campaneris, the league's top base stealer, is 23, and catcher Rene Lachemann is 20.

In two more years, maybe three, we'll make a good run for the first division." Peters said. "It's kind of hard pinning down the exact year because your young ballplayers all develop at a different speed."

Will Giants Stand On Top

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Herman Franks has made a promise: The San Francisco Giants will stay on top.

Sam Mele has made a promise: The Minnesota Twins will get a little higher.

The managers of the front-runners in the National and American League pennant races, seeing things through different situations, each had a day off Thursday to reflect on the final 10 days of the 1965 baseball season.

Franks, whose Giants hold a two-game lead over the Los Angeles Dodgers and a 3 1/2-game bulge over third-place Cincinnati, had this to say: "I think we go better when it's tight. We've fallen back 10 times before and we've always regrouped. This is the last time we're falling back. That's a promise."

The Giants, who have lost two in a row while the Dodgers have ripped off six straight victories, close out the season at home, beginning with a three-game set against Milwaukee tonight. Then they tangle with St. Louis before facing the Reds in a four-game windup.

Franks has tapped Ron Herbel, 10-7, to oppose Milwaukee's Tony Cloninger, 22-10, but has not revealed any pitching plans beyond that. Dodger Manager Walt Alston, on the other hand, has his three aces primed for a three-game set with St. Louis starting tonight.

Claude Osteen, 15-14, opens against Bob Gibson, 18-10, then 21-game winner Don Drysdale and 23-game winner Sandy Koufax take their turn. It's also likely the same rotation will be followed in a three-game series with Cincinnati and a windup four with Milwaukee.

The Reds, with most of their games left with the two leaders, first invade Houston for a two-game set starting Saturday night. Jim Maloney, shooting for victory No. 20, will get the Reds' final drive started.

The Twins, who have lost three straight but still lead Baltimore by eight games, were worried about only one thing as they prepared for a three-game series with Washington beginning tonight. And that was champagne.

The Twins, who need any combination of their victories or losses by the Orioles totaling three to clinch their first AL pennant, were set for a champagne celebration at Minnesota but ran into a three-game losing streak that delayed the bottle popping.

Now they've got to find a new batch of the fizzy stuff.

Baltimore meets California in a twi-nighter with Steve Barber, 14-9, and Wally Bunker, 8-7, going against Jack Sanford, 5-6, and Marcelino Lopez, 14-13. If the Twins win and the Orioles lose two, it's all over.

Four games were played Thursday but none had a bearing on the pennant races.

In the National League, Philadelphia swept the Chicago Cubs 11-5 and 7-4 as Jim Bunning and Chris Short each posted victory No. 18. Bunning permitted 12 hits but held on for the decision over Larry Jackson, who became a 20-game loser. Short surrendered seven hits.

In the American League, Cleveland edged the New York Yankees 2-1 on Fred Whitfield's homer and a third inning run built on a walk, Leon Wagner's single, an error and a ground out.

Kansas City whipped Washington 8-7 with a three-run ninth inning rally in which Bill Bryan smacked a two-run triple and Randy Schwartz singled in the winning run.

Green Bay Over Baltimore

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK AP -- Will the gentleman from Harmans, Md., who noted our pick of Minnesota to beat Baltimore and wrote on a clipping "Here eat it. You wrote it" please stand. We're picking against the Colts again.

The first week was rough going with 4-3 in the National Football League and 2-2 in the American Football League.

Here goes for another round of guesses: All games Sunday unless otherwise noted:

National League

Green Bay 21, Baltimore 17--Another blood battle Colts won both games last year but the total margin was four points. Packers' balanced attack and solid defense against John Unitas and Lenny Moore. Always give Unitas a chance but Packers should win tight one.

Minnesota 21, Detroit 14--Vikings will be hungry for red meat in home opener after loss to Colts. Harry Gilmer, former Van Brocklin assistant, shut out Rams but will find Vikings' Fran Tarkenton tough to handle.

San Francisco 28, Pittsburgh 10--If John Brodie is hot again, watch out Steelers. Pittsburgh, struggling all through preseason, lost John Henry Johnson in opener against Packers. 49ers have good running attack and won't miss defensive end Dan Colchico too much in this one.

St. Louis 28, Cleveland 27--A wild one and the best chance for an upset. Cards must win to stay alive after ambush in Philadelphia. Browns' offense not overpowering in Washington. Cards beat Browns and tied them last year and think they can handle champs.

Dallas 17, Washington 10--Cowboys' defense will make Sonny Jurgensen run for cover. Buddy Dial, Frank Clarke and Bob Hayes will put the heat on rookie Rick Harris in Redskin defense.

Philadelphia 28, New York 21--Eagles clicked with everything against St. Louis and will blitz Earl Morrall into Franklin Field turf if Giants don't pick up red dogs. Tucker Frederickson on the draw might make it interesting but Eagles' Tim Brown will be too tough for green Giants to handle.

Los Angeles 14, Chicago 7--Neither team showed any offense in opener although Bears broke through late in game after 49ers had rolled up big margin. Bears won exhibition game 28-14 with help of Gale Sayers' runbacks. Rams should be in bad mood after tongue lashing and mid-week scrimmage. Bill Munson will give Bears' pass defense a test.

American League

Boston 21, Denver 17 Friday night -- After losing two in a row Pats must win in home opener if they expect to remain contenders. Babe Parilli has been way off and Pats will miss J. D. Garrett. Mike Holovak's blitz must handle Mickey Slaughter and Cookie Gilchrist. Logic says Denver but site has Boston.

Buffalo 28, New York 14--Bills playing like real champions handled Jets 30-14 and 31-10 in preseason games. Weeb Ewbank ready to go to Joe Namath, his $400,000 rookie, after his strong effort in relief of Mile Taliaferro last week. Bills are too tough up front.

San Diego 28, Kansas City 14--Chargers still without Keith Lincoln but rookie Gene Foster filling gap. San Diego can loaf the rest of the way if it beats its third straight Western Division rival.

Oakland 21, Houston 20--Raiders bounce back from loss to San Diego and end Houston's all-winning season. Art Powell and rookie Rog Hagberg click while Raiders' pass defense stops George Blanda and the Frazier boys.

Cards Play Leading Role

Cards - A's
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The National League pennant race moves to the West Coast for its finale and the St. Louis Cardinals will play a leading role.

The Cardinals open a three-game series against the second-place Los Angeles Dodgers tonight with ace Bob Gibson 18-10 scheduled to face the Dodgers' Claude Osteen 15-14.

Up North, San Francisco, leading the Dodgers by two games, entertains Milwaukee. Then the Cardinals and Braves switch opponents before third-place Cincinnati, which will be playing in Houston during the weekend, goes to the coast for games against the Giants and Dodgers.

Meanwhile, back in the Midwest, Kansas City scored three times in the ninth inning Thursday to defeat Washington, 8-7, in Kansas City.

Bill Bryan tripled home two runs and rookie Randy Schwartz drove in the winning run with a pinch-hit single.

Dick Nen had given the Senators an early lead with a grand slam homer in the first inning.

The A's entertain Boston tonight with Jim Hunter 7-6 opposing Earl Wilson 12-13 of the Red Sox.

Fisk Boy Has Signed With Kansas City Athletics

Ken Marler, a 20 year old outfielder from Fisk has signed with the Kansas City Athletics and he plans to go to Daytona Beach, Florida, this March for spring training. Ken has played on the Victory League in Wichita where he hit an average of 508. He batted a total of 338 in 63 games and he was selected for the All Star Kansas Team. Ken's team won 2nd in the National Semi-Pro games in which he hit an average of 471 during the tournament. In the final game of the 32 game tourney Marler hit 5 for 5. Only six other baseball players have done this in the past 31 years. Ken led all tournament players in total hits with 16, which included two home runs and six doubles.

Ken was born September 29, 1945, with a birth defect. The fingers of his right hand have only one joint. They were webbed but Shriners Hospital in St. Louis has made operations on them and they are now separated. He went to high school in Fisk and one year at Southern Baptist College in Walnut Ridge, Arkansas. Ken had a C plus average in both high school and college. Marler plans to attend college at Walnut Ridge, where he is now through the fall and winter months, and then play baseball through the spring and summer months.

Ken went to Kansas City following the National Non-Pro Baseball tourney in Wichita in August. He took batting practice with the Kansas City A's and on September 11, they signed him on.

Some of the boys Ken Marler has competed against are Charlie Neal, ex Brooklyn Dodger, Bobby Boyd, ex Baltimore, Jim Penlenton, ex Milwaukee player, Ron Karnal, ex Met player, Bud Bloomfield, ex Red Sox, Tom Borland, ex Red Sox pitcher, Pat Gillick, batting practice pitcher for the Houston Astros, and Jim Melton, ex New York Giant pitcher.

Ken Marler has had a real good year.

The responsibility of the newspapers -- more than ever before in my life -- is to explain what the issues in the world are. And yet at the same time there seems to be a trend for the newspapers to become only commercial enterprises. There are exceptions, of course. But I think some publishers think that it doesn't make much difference what a paper says as long as the balance sheet is all right. Well, it makes a great deal of difference what the paper says: It does to me and I think it should to the American people. St. Louis Hawks Beat Detroit

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Land Sakes. The baseball season isn't over yet, but pro basketball is back on the sports pages today.

The St. Louis Hawks beat the Detroit Pistons 113-110 at Springfield, Ill., Thursday night in the first exhibition game for National Basketball Association teams. Zelmo Beaty was high for the Hawks with 21 points, Donny Butcher for Detroit with 15.

The exhibition grind starts in earnest tonight with four games, topped by the meeting at Seattle between the champion Boston Celtics and the Western Division champs, the Los Angeles Lakers.

It seems like only yesterday that the Celtics whipped the Lakers in the championship playoff series last March for their seventh straight NBA title.

Since then both teams have been sold, but as usual the Celtics, led by big Bill Russell, are favored to win the title again.

Russell recently signed for a reported $100,001 so he could say he makes more than the $100,000 Wilt Chamberlain is supposed to get from the Philaselphia 76ers.

Chamberlain will be on view tonight at Roselle, N. J., where the 76ers tangle with the New York Knicks. In tonight's other games, Detroit meets the Baltimore Bullets at Evansville, Ind., and St. Louis takes on the Cincinnati Royals at Maysville, Ky.

The regular NBA season Oct. 16.

Missouri At Oklahoma

By JERRY SCARBROUGH
Associated Press Sports Writer

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP)—The Big Eight conference lead will be the prize Saturday afternoon when Oklahoma State hosts Missouri in the first league football game of the season.

Other league teams open next week or two weeks hence so the winner here will be king for a week at least and the loser will be the sole occupant of the cellar.

Both Missouri and OSU lost their openers last week, but each is rated high among league teams. Missouri is given the best chance of any Big Eight club of dethroning Nebraska, champion the last two years.

Missouri dropped a 7-0 contest to Kentucky last week, but lost four fumbles and had three passes intercepted. Coach Dan Devine's Tigers' most costly miscue was a fumble at the Kentucky one-foot line.

OSU fell 28-14 before Arkansas. The Cowboys fell behind 21-0 at the half, but rebounded strongly in the second half behind quarterback Glenn Baxter and fullback Walt Garrison.

Garrison scored both Cowboy touchdowns. The 200-pounder, who led the Big Eight in rushing last season, picked up 74 yards in 18 carries against Arkansas and coach Phil Cutchin also got good mileage from him as a pass receiver.

Missouri will counter with an offense built around quarterback Gary Lane, the Big Eight's total offense king the last two years.

Lane, bothered by an injury, had an off day against Kentucky, completing 5 of 11 passes for only 15 yards and picking up just three yards on the ground.

Devine has pronounced Lane ready to go against the Cowboys, but he has Gary Kombrink, a fine sophomore, in reserve.

Missouri's top performers against Kentucky were swift halfbacks Charlie Brown and Monroe Phelps, who led the Tigers to 188 yards on the ground.

My friend Paul's lovelive came to an abrupt end when his conniving fiancee took the gifts he lavished on her then skipped out on him. Paul shrugged the incident off as a bad investment and lost no sleep over it.

Some months later, though, the shrew throught she would rub some salt in the wound by sending Paul an engraved announcement of her forthcoming marriage to another sucker.

My friend closed the matter with a wedding-day telegram to her consisting of two words and his signature.

It read: "Act surprised."

Tulsa Rated Underdog

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG

Tulsa is ambitious for top-10 national ranking and another bowl trip. Arkansas is shooting for the national crown and its sixth bowl trip. The Razorbacks whipped Oklahoma 28-14 at Little Rock. The Tulsa game will be at Fayetteville.

Houston has yet to score in decisive lickings by Tulsa and Mississippi State, sophomore back Warren McVea has had some trouble getting started and there are rumors coach Bill Yoemans is in trouble. Kansas City A's Coming In Last

A's Youth Movement

KANSAS CITY (AP) - The Athletics are almost assured of their second consecutive last-place finish in the American League, but owner Charles O. Finley is banking on a youth movement to lift them to greener pastures before long.

Even the parent A's have the young look.

Jim Catfish Hunter, 19, is one of three members of the staff with a winning record, 7-6.

Fred Talbot, the team's winningest pitcher 10-11 is 24, the same age as second basemen Dick Green and outfielder Tom Reynolds. Shortstop Bert Campaneris, the league's top base stealer, is 23, and catcher Rene Lachemann is 20.

In two more years, maybe three, we'll make a good run for the first division," Peters said. "It's kind of hard pinning down the exact year because your young ballplayers all develop at a different speed."

Will Giants Stand On Top

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Herman Franks has made a promise; The San Francisco Giants will stay on top.

Sam Mele has made a promise; The Minnesota Twins will get a little higher.

The managers of the front-runners in the National and American League pennant races, seeing things through different situations, each had a day off Thursday to reflect on the final 10 days of the 1965 baseball season.

Franks, whose Giants hold a two-game lead over the Los Angeles Dodgers and a 3 1/2-game bulge over third-place Cincinnati, had this to say: "I think we go better when it's tight. We've fallen back 10 times before and we've always regrouped. This is the last time we're falling back. That's a promise."

The Giants, who have lost two in a row while the Dodgers have ripped off six straight victories, close out the season at home, beginning with a three-game set against Milwaukee tonight. Then they tangle with St. Louis before facing the Reds in a four-game windup.

Franks has tapped Ron Herbel, 10-7, to oppose Milwaukee's Tony Cloninger, 22-10, but has not revealed any pitching plans beyond that. Dodger Manager Walt Alston, on the other hand, has his three aces primed for a three-game set with St. Louis starting tonight.

Claude Osteen, 15-14, opens against Bob Gibson, 18-10, then 21-game winner Don Drysdale and 23-game winner Sandy Koufax take their turn. It's also likely the same rotation will be followed in a three-game series with Cincinnati and a windup four with Milwaukee.

The Reds, with most of their games left with the two leaders, first invade Houston for a two-game set starting Saturday night. Jim Maloney, shooting for victory No. 20, will get the Reds' final drive started.

The Twins, who have lost three straight but still lead Baltimore by eight games, were worried about only one thing as they prepared for a three-game series with Washington beginning tonight. And that was champagne.

The Twins, who need any combination of their victories or losses by the Orioles totaling three to clinch their first AL pennant, were set for a champagne celebration at Minnesota but ran into a three-game losing streak that delayed the bottle popping.

Now they've got to find a new batch of the fizzy stuff.

Baltimore meets California in a twi-nighter with Steve Barber, 14-9, and Wally Bunker, 8-7, going against Jack Sanford, 5-6, and Marcelino Lopez, 14-13.

If the Twins win and the Orioles lose two, it's all over.

Four games were played Thursday but none had a bearing on the pennant races.

In the National League, Philadelphia swept the Chicago Cubs 11-5 and 7-4 as Jim Bunning and Chris Short each posted victory No. 18. Bunning permitted 12 hits but held on for the decision over Larry Jackson, who became a 20-game loser. Short surrendered seven hits.

In the American League, Cleveland edged the New York Yankees 2-1 on Fred Whitfield's homer and a third inning run built on a walk, Leon Wagner's single, an error and a ground out.

Kansas City whipped Washington 8-7 with a three-run ninth inning rally in which Bill Bryan smacked a two-run triple and Randy Schwartz singled in the winning run.

Green Bay Over Baltimore

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK AP -- Will the gentleman from Harmans, Md., who noted our pick of Minnesota to beat Baltimore and wrote on a clipping "Here eat it. You wrote it" please stand. We're picking against the Colts again.

The first week was rough going with 4-3 in the National Football League and 2-2 in the American Football League.

Here goes for another round of guesses: All games Sunday unless otherwise noted:

National League

Green Bay 21, Baltimore 17--Another blood battle Colts won both games last year but the total margin was four points. Packers' balanced attack and solid defense against John Unitas and Lenny Moore. Always give Unitas a chance but Packers should win tight one.

Minnesota 21, Detroit 14--Vikings will be hungry for red meat in home opener after loss to Colts. Harry Gilmer, former Van Brocklin assistant, shut out Rams but will find Vikings' Fran Tarkenton tough to handle.

San Francisco 28, Pittsburgh 10--If John Brodie is hot again, watch out Steelers. Pittsburgh, struggling all through preseason, lost John Henry Johnson in opener against Packers. 49ers have good running attack and won't miss defensive end Dan Colchico too much in this one.

St. Louis 28, Cleveland 27--A wild one and the best chance for an upset. Cards must win to stay alive after ambush in Philadelphia. Browns' offense not overpowering in Washington. Cards beat Browns and tied them last year and think they can handle champs.

Dallas 17, Washington 10--Cowboys' defense will make Sonny Jurgensen run for cover. Buddy Dial, Frank Clarke and Bob Hayes will put the heat on rookie Rick Harris in Redskin defense.

Philadelphia 28, New York 21--Eagles clicked with everything against St. Louis and will blitz Earl Morrall into Franklin Field turf if Giants don't pick up red dogs. Tucker Frederickson on the draw might make it interesting but Eagles' Tim Brown will be too tough for green Giants to handle.

Los Angeles 14, Chicago 7--Neither team showed any offense in opener although Bears broke through late in game after 49ers had rolled up big margin. Bears won exhibition game 28-14 with help of Gale Sayers' runbacks. Rams should be in bad mood after tongue lashing and mid-week scrimmage. Bill Munson will give Bears' pass defense a test.

American League

Boston 21, Denver 17 Friday night -- After losing two in a row Pats must win in home opener if they expect to remain contenders. Babe Parilli has been way off and Pats will miss J. D. Garrett. Mike Holovak's blitz must handle Mickey Slaughter and Cookie Gilchrist. Logic says Denver but site has Boston.

Buffalo 28, New York 14--Bills playing like real champions handled Jets 30-14 and 31-10 in preseason games. Weeb Ewbank ready to go to Joe Namath, his $400,000 rookie, after his strong effort in relief of Mile Taliaferro last week. Bills are too tough up front.

San Diego 28, Kansas City 14--Chargers still without Keith Lincoln but rookie Gene Foster filling gap. San Diego can loaf the rest of the way if it beats its third straight Western Division rival.

Oakland 21, Houston 20--Raiders bounce back from loss to San Diego and end Houston's all-winning season. Art Powell and rookie Rog Hagberg click while Raiders' pass defense stops George Blanda and the Frazier boys.

Cards Play Leading Role

Cards - A's
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The National League pennant race moves to the West Coast for its finale and the St. Louis Cardinals will play a leading role.

The Cardinals open a three-game series against the second-place Los Angeles Dodgers tonight with ace Bob Gibson 18-10 scheduled to face the Dodgers' Claude Osteen 15-14.

Up North, San Francisco, leading the Dodgers by two games, entertains Milwaukee. Then the Cardinals and Braves switch opponents before third-place Cincinnati, which will be playing in Houston during the weekend, goes to the coast for games against the Giants and Dodgers.

Meanwhile, back in the Midwest, Kansas City scored three times in the ninth inning Thursday to defeat Washington, 8-7, in Kansas City.

Bill Bryan tripled home two runs and rookie Randy Schwartz drove in the winning run with a pinch-hit single.

Dick Nen had given the Senators an early lead with a grand slam homer in the first inning.

The A's entertain Boston tonight with Jim Hunter 7-6 opposing Earl Wilson 12-13 of the Red Sox.

High School Girl Slain Shot In Back

STEWARTSVILLE, MO (AP) Sonya Faye Botts died of three bullet wounds in the back soon after she returned home from high school Wednesday, and investigators still are trying to determine who shot her and why.

The 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs Willard Botts Jr., apparently was not beaten or sexually molested. The Botts farm house two miles south of Stewartsville was not burglarized.

Officers were called to the scene shortly after 4 P.M. by Sonya Faye's 12-year-old brother Steven.

Sheriff Ray Boyd of Clinton County quoted the boy as saying he was in the barn and heard some shots. When he looked out, a big blue car was pulling away.

Three girls dropped Sonya Faye off at home after they were dismissed from high school, and she apparently was shot within 10 minutes. The sheriff said the girls could not remember seeing a car at the farm when they stopped.

Officers found Sonya Faye lying in the dining room between the kitchen and the living room. She apparently was alive but unconscious. They could learn nothing from her, and she was dead on arrival at the hospital at Cameron, Mo.

Two cartridges were found at the shooting scene, Sheriff Boyd said; and several rifles in the household will be subjected to ballistic tests.

Steven Botts was the only other member of the family at home.

Mr. and Mrs. Botts operate a feed and farm supply store in Stewartsville, a town of 500 on U.S. 36 about 18 miles east of St. Joseph, Mo. Their home is across the county line in Clinton County.

The Missouri Highway Pat. issued a pickup alarm for a blue car.

Hours later a patrol spokesman said the only information investigators had to go on was from Steven Botts and they had been unable to develop other leads.

Summer Was Cooler, Wetter

WASHINGTON AP -- The U. S. Weather Bureau reported today the past summer was cooler and wetter than normal.

In June, July and August, temperatures in most parts of the country averaged about two degrees below normal. Only in small, scattered sections was it slightly warmer than normal, the bureau said.

The bureau's weekly crop bulletin said seasonal rainfall was above normal over more than half the country, although drought persisted in the Northeast.

Campus Presents Various Groups

VARIOUS TYPES OF STUDENTS may be found in any high school -- some of these are the serious student, the artist, and the clock watcher.

Serious students are most likely to be found as leading members of the honor society, the National Forensic League, the editor or reporters of the newspaper, or possibly as student body president.

Serious student is usually the leader in extra-curricular activities, such as the drama club or the science club.

Creative persons are a genuine asset to their school and community. Designs for the yearbook cover, cartoons in the school paper, and other art works are contributed by this group.

Scenery for the dramatic production may be an ideal project for the artistic students.

Both serious students and creative ones find school an enjoying exciting experience, but also found on any campus is the clock watcher.

This lackadaisical individual sits in class watching every movement of the second hand. He rarely knows what is happening in class or participates in any class discussion.

Visions of the neighborhood drugstore and a pleasant group of his friends occupy his attention, and he can scarcely control his joy when the bell rings.

Each individual in high school should strive to perform to the utmost of his capacity while he is a student to prepare him for his career in later life.

It is to these students that opportunities present themselves and to whom life offers its best.

HOME ROOM 12-B is represented in the Growler king and queen contest by Jim Clary and Ginger Cumpton.

Campaign Climbs; Royalty Selected

Sales campaign began Monday morning when senior John Paul Cook was the first purchaser of the "'66 Growler."

This campaign will continue until it is climaxed by the Growler dance on Saturday, Nov. 13.

Marking the close of the sales drive will be the coronation of the yearbook's royalty at the dance.

Selling stations are established before school in the cafeteria, and after school Growlers may be purchased from any staff member in A-4. Individual campaigning is also going on by the staff.

When purchasing a yearbook, students vote for their choice of king and queen from the candidates nominated by the senior home rooms. These names were published in the Barker last week.

Photos of two candidates representing the various home rooms will be printed each week in the paper.

This year's Growler will be one of the largest to be published in Sikeston high school. Books will include pictures of the faculty, classes, sports, organizations, honors, commencement, and candid shots.

Organizational pictures will be taken in the next few weeks, and the faculty and student pictures are partially completed.

Students Fail To Realize Responsibilities Of Council

STUDENT COUNCIL is an organization designed to give students themselves more representation in the administration of the school.

Since it is a representative group, it is composed of students from each class who are duly elected at the beginning of the school year, and a president elected the previous school year presides.

The duties of the council are varied but the limitations are numerous also. Committees are formed to oversee the workings of this legislative body and they function under appointed chairmen.

The council makes sure that the school bulletin board is up-to-date and accurate; prepares all assemblies held during the year; operates the refreshment stand at football games; plans and carries out elections for class officers, for outstanding class member, for mock federal and state elections, and for the student body president.

This year the council has a new duty and that is to correlate between students and Mrs. Dorothy Lawrence information concerning opinions on meals.

Last but not least, the council acts as the middle man between the administration and the student body. This is the limitation of power.

One final obligation of this organization is to carry out a project each year. Various plans have been worked out but because of more important business they have been neglected.

Among these are the sun dial and the school sign. Both projects have been started, and they are expected to be finished this year.

As can be seen, the duties of the council are far more than are readily apparent. The members have an obligation to the faculty, to the students and to themselves to do the very best job possible. Do not criticize the workings or the inability of the council to bring about particular plans without careful study and contemplation.

High School Girl Slain Shot In Back

STEWARTSVILLE, MO (AP) Sonya Faye Botts died of three bullet wounds in the back soon after she returned home from high school Wednesday, and investigators still are trying to determine who shot her and why.

The 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs Willard Botts Jr., apparently was not beaten or sexually molested. The Botts farm house two miles south of Stewartsville was not burglarized.

Officers were called to the scene shortly after 4 P.M. by Sonya Faye's 12-year-old brother Steven.

Sheriff Ray Boyd of Clinton County quoted the boy as saying he was in the barn and heard some shots. When he looked out, a big blue car was pulling away.

Three girls dropped Sonya Faye off at home after they were dismissed from high school, and she apparently was shot within 10 minutes. The sheriff said the girls could not remember seeing a car at the farm when they stopped.

Officers found Sonya Faye lying in the dining room between the kitchen and the living room. She apparently was alive but unconscious. They could learn nothing from her, and she was dead on arrival at the hospital at Cameron, Mo.

Two cartridges were found at the shooting scene, Sheriff Boyd said; and several rifles in the household will be subjected to ballistic tests.

Steven Botts was the only other member of the family at home.

Mr. and Mrs. Botts operate a feed and farm supply store in Stewartsville, a town of 500 on U.S. 36 about 18 miles east of St. Joseph, Mo. Their home is across the county line in Clinton County.

The Missouri Highway Patrol issued a pickup alarm for a blue car.

Hours later a patrol spokesman said the only information investigators had to go on was from Steven Botts and they had been unable to develop other leads.

Summer Was Cooler, Wetter

WASHINGTON AP -- The U. S. Weather Bureau reported today the past summer was cooler and wetter than normal.

In June, July and August, temperatures in most parts of the country averaged about two degrees below normal. Only in small, scattered sections was it slightly warmer than normal, the bureau said.

The bureau's weekly crop bulletin said seasonal rainfall was above normal over more than half the country, although drought persisted in the Northeast.

Altar Set Given Church

MATTHEWS - The Christian Women's Fellowship met Sept. 16 with Mrs. Nelson Lumsden near Canalou. A memorial service for Mrs. Mina Gaines opened the devotional service led by Mrs. Dennis Parsons. In her tribute Mrs. Parsons cited 35 years of faithfulness to the church and community. A wooden altar set given the church by Mrs. Gaines, was dedicated for use in services.

The program on "Restructure-What It's All About" was led by Mrs. Joe Silverthorn. Mrs. Lester King, Mrs. Larry Long, Mrs. C. G. Scott, Jr., Mrs. R. L. Richards, and Mrs. Lumsden participated in a skit that interpreted brotherhood restructure for women, emphasizing that it was a continuing process, and pointing out progress that had been made.

It doesn't feel so bad to be 72 years old or at least the Standard editor doesn't feel so bad after passing the 72nd mile post Wednesday of this week.

Remembrances from Mr. and Mrs. Milton Haas of St. Louis and the I. Becker family of this city to the editor and wife, are hereby acknowledged. This on our 45th anniversary. Coming from the hearts of these good friends means much to us in our sundown of life.

THE PRAYER
For Today From The Upper Room

For me to live is Christ. (Philippians 1:21)

PRAYER: Dear Father, we want to live closer to Thee than ever before. Today we commit our lives to Thee because Thou art the only light that can guide us in our pilgrimage in this world of Thine. We pray in the name of Thy Son, our Savior, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven. . . . . .Amen."

ANN LANDERS
Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: I drive an ice cream truck and enjoy my work. I'm the kind who kids around a lot with my customers and I'm afraid it has created a misunderstanding. This is what happened:

One of my favorite customers is a little girl about 11 years old. The other day when she came out to buy some ice cream I showed her a large wad of dollar bills which I happened to have in my pocket. I said, "This is enough for you and me to get married." She looked shocked and ran off.

The girl must have told her mother because now she is not allowed to come out and buy ice cream. Her mother comes over to the truck and she is very cold and unfriendly. Although not one word has been said I know she is mad. I need your advice about what to do.--ICE CREAM MAN

Dear Man: If you enjoy your work and want to stay with it you'd better drop the bum jokes, Bub. Talking marriage to an 11-year-old--even as a gag--makes my skin crawl. You're lucky that mother didn't complain to your boss.

Dear Ann Landers: May I add my 2¢ worth to the discussion about taking pictures at funerals?

I have done it (against my better judgment) at the insistence of a relative who was not able to travel across the country to attend the funeral of a brother. The request was put this way: "It would make me feel so much better if I could see how dear Otis looked when they put him away. Also I would love to see the flowers. And if you can get some pictures of Selma and Zorine I would appreciate that, too. I want to see how they are taking it."

Who said we are living in a civilized world? We no longer bury food with the deceased, but we do take food to the home of the relatives and while eating tear the living apart with gossip.

Just between us, I hate funerals but I go because I'm afraid of what they might say about me if I don't. --D.E.B.

Dear D. E. B.: If you want to start a good fight this subject is guaranteed to start the fur flying. I fell into this meat grinder once and that should be enough. However, I repeat: I wish the living would treat one another better so that they wouldn't feel compelled by guilt to hock their eye teeth for a fancy funeral.

Dear Ann Landers: You've done the office workers of America a great service in the past by your beautifully worded barbs aimed at office gum chewers, cigaret moochers, incessant hummers, singers, whistlers, borrowers of small amounts, denture clickers, pinchers, coffee bummers, telephone hogs and overdressed dolls who wear bee-hive hair do's and cocktail clothes to work. Now, Ann, please say something to the clod who sneezes so loud he shakes the fixtures and just about knocks me out of my chair.

I sit directly in front of one of these characters and he is slowly driving me mad. After he shakes the room with one of his block-busters, he looks around to see how many people he has startled.

I have made many a typing error as the result of his crude, show-off sneezing and I am sick of it.--JUMPY JUDY

Dear Jumpy: A sneeze is an involuntary act. A person cannot sneeze at will unless he uses pepper or some irritant. A sneeze can be stifled or amplified, however, and this clown is amplifying because he knows it bugs you. Ignore him.

Do you lean on cigarettes as a social crutch? You may regret it later. Send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Teen-age Smoking," enclosing with your request 10¢ in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems.

Monkey And Jerk Makes Kennedy Party Lively

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy's party honoring former Ambassador John Kenneth Galbraith started out decorously at an art gallery and wound up in the wee hours Wednesday as a frenetic discotheque supper party.

At 1 a.m. Mrs. Kennedy requested "the fastest music you've got," and perspiring discotheque dance teacher Killer Joe Piro bounced among 100 of the world's most beautiful and influential people demonstrating the monkey and the jerk.

Almost all the family was there, Sen. and Mrs. Robert F. Kennedy, Mrs. Pat Lawford, the Stephen Smiths, and Princess Lee Radziwill. Sen. Edward M. Kennedy sprinted into the party late.

A small gathering of friends at Mrs. Kennedy's Fifth Avenue apartment moved to the Asia House Gallery, where she and Galbraith had loaned several Indian miniature paintings on display.

Among the guests were the W. Averell Harrimans, French Ambassador and Mrs. Herve Alphand, Secretary of Defense and Mrs. Robert S. McNamara, historian Arthur Schlesinger and wife and artist William Walton.

These joined more Kennedys and 80 other women in elegant formal wear and men in starched shirts and black tie at the Sign of the Dove, which had closed its doors to the public and the press on this private occasion.

From the outside the crowds pressed against police barricades to watch the gyrations of transplanted Washington society in an atmosphere of brick garden walls, shadowy torch lights, and foliage bathed in green light.

Plan To Hire Nurse For Health Unit

KENNETT - A tentative plan to employ a psychiatric nurse to provide a link between the mental health center and its patients was approved at a meeting of the Southeast Missouri Mental Helth Association.

As outlined, the psychiatric nurse would make home visits to patients receiving treatment at the association - sponsored clinic, which is under the direction of Dr. Emmett Hoctor of Farmington. The employe would visit public schools in the six-county area served by the association to consult with counselors, school nurses and other officials to assist in referrals to the clinic and expand the educational services of the volunteer mental health organization.

The association staff member would also assist in the rehabilitation of discharged patients from both state and private mental hospitals and clinics.

Financing of the proposed project, discussed at the board meeting, would be made possible through annual fund campaigns, to be conducted by the association in Dunklin, Pemiscot, New Madrid, Scott, Mississippi and Butler Counties.

A tentative goal of $15,000 was set for the inauguration of the six-county funding campaign.

Troy Wilson, Kennett, president of the association, made the following fund goal assignments at last night's board meeting:

Dunklin County - T. A. Brown, Jr., E. L. Robison, Aaron Rosenthal, Mrs. Kathleen Dulaney.

Pemiscot County - Sterling Duncan.

New Madrid County - Vic Downing.

Scott County - Jack Stapleton, Jr.

Mississippi County -- Layton Pickard, Mrs. Julia Warren.

Butler County -- Dr. Joe Zimmerman and Wilson.

Q—Do giraffes have vocal cords and do they make any sound at all?

A—Yes, but they are not highly developed. They can make sounds for certain reasons. When in great pain or distress, giraffes utter groans or moos; cow giraffes also produce a call when a calf strays.

Long Supports Aid Bill

WASHINGTON AP -- The nation may have to fight communism with more and more Americans tomorrow if communism is not fought today with U. S. dollars, Sen. Edward V. Long, D-Mo., said Thursday.

"I much prefer to spend an American dollar instead of the life of an American boy," Long said in calling for support of the foreign aid appropriation bill pending in the Senate.

The appropriations involved, he said, will be spent largely in the purchase of American goods. More than 85 per cent is tagged specifically to be spent only in the United States, he said. Four years ago, he noted, only 40 per cent of the foreign aid dollars went for U. S. products.

"Much of this aid money helps to build U. S. export trade," he continued. "Aid program purchases in the United States build trade ties for the future."

Air Strip Portageville Possibility

PORTAGEVILLE--Mayor Joe Christian says that there was a good possibility that Portageville would have a good airstrip this spring.

It is reported a site could be west of the new gravel road, running north and south. The proposed air strip would be 100 feet wide by 3,000 feet long.

It is estimated it would be open from 340 to 350 days out of the year. A temporary project, it would be in service until a more modern airport could be obtained.

Officials of the Missouri Delta Center have been in need of good air travel facilities.

There are seven or eight privately owned planes in Portageville and community. They, along with the mayor, board of aldermen, businessmen, cotton gin owners and farm operators will welcome an air strip.

The Portageville Jaycees, instigators of the project about a year ago, along with the Chamber of Commerce, Rotary and Kiwanis Club will lend their support.

THE PRAYER

For Today From The Upper Room

For me to live is Christ. (Philippians 1:21)

PRAYER: Dear Father, we want to live closer to Thee than ever before. Today we commit our lives to Thee because Thou art the only light that can guide us in our pilgrimage in this world of Thine. We pray in the name of Thy Son, our Savior, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven. . . . . .Amen."

ANN LANDERS

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: I drive an ice cream truck and enjoy my work. I'm the kind who kids around a lot with my customers and I'm afraid it has created a misunderstanding. This is what happened:

One of my favorite customers is a little girl about 11 years old. The other day when she came out to buy some ice cream I showed her a large wad of dollar bills which I happened to have in my pocket. I said, "This is enough for you and me to get married." She looked shocked and ran off.

The girl must have told her mother because now she is not allowed to come out and buy ice cream. Her mother comes over to the truck and she is very cold and unfriendly. Although not one word has been said I know she is mad. I need your advice about what to do.--ICE CREAM MAN

Dear Man: If you enjoy your work and want to stay with it you'd better drop the bum jokes, Bub. Talking marriage to an 11-year-old--even as a gag--makes my skin crawl. You're lucky that mother didn't complain to your boss.

Dear Ann Landers: May I add my 2¢ worth to the discussion about taking pictures at funerals?

I have done it (against my better judgment) at the insistence of a relative who was not able to travel across the country to attend the funeral of a brother. The request was put this way: "It would make me feel so much better if I could see how dear Otis looked when they put him away. Also I would love to see the flowers. And if you can get some pictures of Selma and Zorine I would appreciate that, too. I want to see how they are taking it."

Who said we are living in a civilized world? We no longer bury food with the deceased, but we do take food to the home of the relatives and while eating tear the living apart with gossip.

Just between us, I hate funerals but I go because I'm afraid of what they might say about me if I don't. --D.E.B.

Dear D. E. B.: If you want to start a good fight this subject is guaranteed to start the fur flying. I fell into this meat grinder once and that should be enough. However, I repeat: I wish the living would treat one another better so that they wouldn't feel compelled by guilt to hock their eye teeth for a fancy funeral.

Dear Ann Landers: You've done the office workers of America a great service in the past by your beautifully worded barbs aimed at office gum chewers, cigaret moochers, incessant hummers, singers, whistlers, borrowers of small amounts, denture clickers, pinchers, coffee bummers, telephone hogs and overdressed dolls who wear bee-hive hair do's and cocktail clothes to work. Now, Ann, please say something to the clod who sneezes so loud he shakes the fixtures and just about knocks me out of my chair.

I sit directly in front of one of these characters and he is slowly driving me mad. After he shakes the room with one of his block-busters, he looks around to see how many people he has startled.

I have made many a typing error as the result of his crude, show-off sneezing and I am sick of it.--JUMPY JUDY

Dear Jumpy: A sneeze is an involuntary act. A person cannot sneeze at will unless he uses pepper or some irritant. A sneeze can be stifled or amplified, however, and this clown is amplifying because he knows it bugs you. Ignore him.

Do you lean on cigarettes as a social crutch? You may regret it later. Send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Teen-age Smoking," enclosing with your request 10¢ in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems.

Monkey And Jerk Makes Kennedy Party Lively

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy's party honoring former Ambassador John Kenneth Galbraith started out decorously at an art gallery and wound up in the wee hours Wednesday as a frenetic discotheque supper party.

At 1 a.m. Mrs. Kennedy requested "the fastest music you've got," and perspiring discotheque dance teacher Killer Joe Piro bounced among 100 of the world's most beautiful and influential people demonstrating the monkey and the jerk.

Almost all the family was there, Sen. and Mrs. Robert F. Kennedy, Mrs. Pat Lawford, the Stephen Smiths, and Princess Lee Radziwill. Sen. Edward M. Kennedy sprinted into the party late.

A small gathering of friends at Mrs. Kennedy's Fifth Avenue apartment moved to the Asia House Gallery, where she and Galbraith had loaned several Indian miniature paintings on display.

Among the guests were the W. Averell Harrimans, French Ambassador and Mrs. Herve Alphand, Secretary of Defense and Mrs. Robert S. McNamara, historian Arthur Schlesinger and wife and artist William Walton.

These joined more Kennedys and 80 other women in elegant formal wear and men in starched shirts and black tie at the Sign of the Dove, which had closed its doors to the public and the press on this private occasion.

From the outside the crowds pressed against police barricades to watch the gyrations of transplanted Washington society in an atmosphere of brick garden walls, shadowy torch lights, and foliage bathed in green light.

Plan To Hire Nurse For Health Unit

KENNETT - A tentative plan to employ a psychiatric nurse to provide a link between the mental health center and its patients was approved at a meeting of the Southeast Missouri Mental Helth Association.

As outlined, the psychiatric nurse would make home visits to patients receiving treatment at the association - sponsored clinic, which is under the direction of Dr. Emmett Hoctor of Farmington. The employe would visit public schools in the six-county area served by the association to consult with counselors, school nurses and other officials to assist in referrals to the clinic and expand the educational services of the volunteer mental health organization.

The association staff member would also assist in the rehabilitation of discharged patients from both state and private mental hospitals and clinics.

Financing of the proposed project, discussed at the board meeting, would be made possible through annual fund campaigns, to be conducted by the association in Dunklin, Pemiscot, New Madrid, Scott, Mississippi and Butler Counties.

A tentative goal of $15,000 was set for the inauguration of the six-county funding campaign.

Troy Wilson, Kennett, president of the association, made the following fund goal assignments at last night's board meeting:

Dunklin County - T. A. Brown, Jr., E. L. Robison, Aaron Rosenthal, Mrs. Kathleen Dulaney.

Pemiscot County - Sterling Duncan.

New Madrid County - Vic Downing.

Scott County - Jack Stapleton, Jr.

Mississippi County -- Layton Pickard, Mrs. Julia Warren.

Butler County -- Dr. Joe Zimmerman and Wilson.

Q—Do giraffes have vocal cords and do they make any sound at all?

A—Yes, but they are not highly developed. They can make sounds for certain reasons. When in great pain or distress, giraffes utter groans or moos; cow giraffes also produce a call when a calf strays.

Long Supports Aid Bill

WASHINGTON AP -- The nation may have to fight communism with more and more Americans tomorrow if communism is not fought today with U. S. dollars, Sen. Edward V. Long, D-Mo., said Thursday.

"I much prefer to spend an American dollar instead of the life of an American boy," Long said in calling for support of the foreign aid appropriation bill pending in the Senate.

The appropriations involved, he said, will be spent largely in the purchase of American goods. More than 85 per cent is tagged specifically to be spent only in the United States, he said. Four years ago, he noted, only 40 per cent of the foreign aid dollars went for U. S. products.

"Much of this aid money helps to build U. S. export trade," he continued. "Aid program purchases in the United States build trade ties for the future."

Air Strip Portageville Possibility

PORTAGEVILLE--Mayor Joe Christian says that there was a good possibility that Portageville would have a good air-strip this spring.

It is reported a site could be west of the new gravel road, running north and south. The proposed air strip would be 100 feet wide by 3,000 feet long.

It is estimated it would be open from 340 to 350 days out of the year. A temporary project, it would be in service until a more modern airport could be obtained.

Officials of the Missouri Delta Center have been in need of good air travel facilities.

There are seven or eight privately owned planes in Portageville and community. They, along with the mayor, board of aldermen, businessmen, cotton gin owners and farm operators will welcome an air strip.

The Portageville Jaycees, instigators of the project about a year ago, along with the Chamber of Commerce, Rotary and Kiwanis Club will lend their support.

THE CROWN AND THE CHAIN

There was a king who wore a crown of gold
That gleamed with gems of loveliness untold.
Yet weighted with a multitude of care,
Without the healing sustenance or prayer,
The king was burdened with anxiety;
His crown became a chain of misery.
There was a slave who wore a fetter gray
And cold and bruising, yet through every day
His heart rejoiced with faith more golden bright
Than any galaxy of flaming light
And oh, his chain of bondage came to be
A crown of glory-shining victory!

Have their hope set . . . on God, Who giveth us richly all things to enjoy.

—(I Tim. 6:17)

His will for us is abundant supply of all that we need to make life happy, secure and complete. God's supply is not limited to time or place. We need to know that God's law of increase is constantly active in our life and affairs, and we are richly and bountifully prospered.

THE CROWN AND THE CHAIN

There was a king who wore a crown of gold
That gleamed with gems of loveliness untold.
Yet weighted with a multitude of care,
Without the healing sustenance or prayer,
The king was burdened with anxiety;
His crown became a chain of misery.
There was a slave who wore a fetter gray
And cold and bruising, yet through every day
His heart rejoiced with faith more golden bright
Than any galaxy of flaming light
And oh, his chain of bondage came to be
A crown of glory-shining victory!
